OUR AUCTION WINES

SOUTH AFRICAS FINEST AUCTION WINES

Great wines play a critical role in the overall dining experience. We have secured a limited selection of South Africa's finest and rarest wines from two of the most prestigious wine auctions and we invite you to discover these rare gems with us.

Under each wine there will be a rating from our group Sommelier Miguel Chan (MC) to guide you in your choices. Enjoy.

The Nedbank Cape Winemakers Guild (CWG) Auction

was established in 1982 with the main aim being to innovate, benchmark and share knowledge in winemaking excellence. Limited edition bottlings are made exclusively for each year's auction by members of the Guild with production rarely exceeding 600 bottles. Most of the wines represent some of the finest examples of their kind in the world garnering exceptionally high scores from leading Sommeliers and International wine publications

The Nederburg Auction was founded in 1975, inspired by two leading European wine auctions: Kloster Eberbach in Germany and Hospices de Beaune in France. South Africa's first Noble Late Harvest, Edelkeur was launched at this inaugural event.

Today it is recognized as one of the world's major wine auctions, offering many finely-matured wines direct from library collections.

ABINGDON WINE ESTATE

Whilst the Cape is heralded as producing the finest wines in south Africa, we are enormously proud of the endeavours of a special boutique Estate on our doorstep. A winelist in Kwa-Zulu Natal would not be complete without Abingdon Wine Estate .

The Estate is located in the picturesque Midlands, and has positioned itself as a serious single vineyard boutique wine producer in the geographical unit of Kwa-Zulu Natal. The farm was bought in 2000 by owners and winemakers Ian and Jane Smorthwaite, and the first vines were planted in 2004. At 1118m above sea level, Abingdon's wines are unofficially the highest altitude certified single vineyard estate wines in the country and the only certified single vineyards in the entire Kwa-Zulu Natal region.

The cultivars planted range from Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Sauvignon Blanc, Viognier to Chardonnay. The soils are Clovelly and Griffon and offer good drainage, which is most welcome, especially when rain shows itself in summer. The wines reflect the cool slopes upon which the cultivars are planted and the flavour nuances lean to the Old World. The uniqueness of this terroir can be tasted in the glass - crisp, fresh, elegant, with a keen minerality.

CHAMPAGNE

Champagne can only be produced within the region of Champagne, France. The primary grapes used in the production of Champagne are Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Meunier. The appellation laws allow only grapes grown according to these rules and in specific areas to carry the name Champagne.

Celebrate with Champagne - At the Beverly Hills we love a celebration! Whether it's a birthday, an anniversary, a promotion, or a get-together with friends and family there is always a reason to celebrate.

"I only drink Champagne when I'm happy, and when I'm sad. Sometimes I drink it when I'm alone. When I have company, I consider it obligatory. I trifle with it if I am not hungry and drink it when I am. Otherwise I never touch it - unless I'm thirsty." - Lily Bollinger

CAP CLASSIQUE

CAP CLASSIQUE BOTTLE FERMENTED SPARKLERS

Whilst Champagne may be known as the most classic example of sparkling wine, in South African, we call it Cap Classique. In other countries it is also known as Espumante as in Portugal or Cava in Spain. Cap Classique follows the same method to that of Champagne and initiates a secondary fermentation in the bottle and it is by this defining process that sparkling wines are classified.

CHENIN BLANC

The most widely planted variety in South African, in the past originally known as Steen. Chenin Blanc may have been one of the first varietals to be planted by Jan van Riebeeck in 1655. Other theories suggest it was first grown in 1685 when it was brought in by the French Huguenots fleeing France after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. Today it forms the base for some outstanding white blends, plays solo as a single varietal, or makes excellent dessert wine. South African Chenins are gaining a big international reputation.

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

We feel that Cabernet Sauvignon is best expressed in the region of Stellenbosch. As one of the world's most recognized grape varieties it is grown in almost every wine producing country in the world. Despite its prominence in the industry, the grape is a relatively new variety and developed by chance, crossing Cabernet Franc and Sauvignon Blanc in the late 17th Century. The Zulu people have been known to associate this variety with the Ndlovu (Elephant) due to the thickness of the grape skin.

Meerlust Merlot 2013

R325

Region: Stellenbosch

This Merlot reflects a deep red colour with hints of red berries and cocoa. On the nose flavours of chocolate, dark berries, pencil shavings, slight cigar box and vanilla, plums and blackberry are prominent.

PINOTAGE

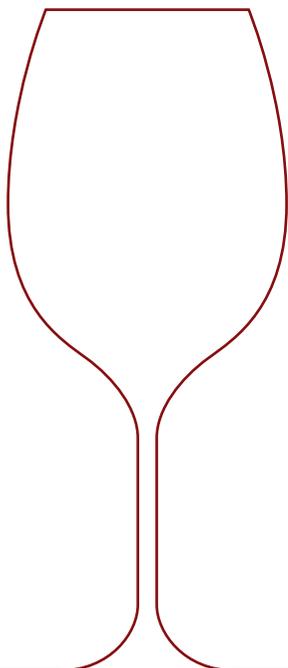

Proudly South African and developed in 1925 by Abraham Izak Perold the first professor of viticulture at Stellenbosch University. The grape is a cross between Pinot Noir and Cinsaut (also known as Hermitage in South Africa at the time) As a single variety or blending component in what are locally known as "Cape Blends", this variety is something exciting for the future of South African wines.

SHIRAZ - SYRAH

Whether you call it Shiraz or Syrah it's up to you. Some classifications have tended to guide people by referring to Shiraz from the New World wine countries and Syrah the Old World but these are guidelines and more specific to styles. South Africa fits somewhere between these classifications due to the variety in our climate and environment.
